The Story Behind the Statues

The statues featured in the Walk at Shields have a beautiful history and are a reminder of God's faithfulness. Pastor Henry Block was a devoted man of God who sought to bring the world back to God. He was the man who had the original vision for the statues and had them commissioned. The statues were part of The Garden at 108 Mile Ranch in Cariboo, B.C., Canada. Pastor Block sought out an Italian sculpture artist named Severino Trinca, who had immigrated to Vancouver from Italy. Trinca brought to life not only Pastor Block's vision but also the life and ministry of Jesus. The Block family, as well as Shields, are forever grateful to Trinca and the wonderful work that he did for the Garden in Cariboo, for the Walk at Shields, and most importantly for the Kingdom of God. The Garden was able to flourish for a number of years before unfortunately the upkeep began to be too much. The statues were then acquired and transferred to Fantasy Gardens, in Richmond. Bill Van der Zalm, former Premier of B.C. Canada, proudly built Fantasy Gardens. Sometime during the years of 1990-91, Fantasy Gardens closed, and the statues were in storage for a time. The statues were attained and eventually made their way to Shields Date Garden. Shields is proud to honor and continue the legacy that Pastor Block and Trinca envisioned with these statues. After having to let go of the statues, Pastor Block always wondered where his statues went. A couple weeks before he returned home to Jesus, Block was praying that he would be able to find joy and peace through knowing where his statues ended up. His daughter was traveling from Arizona and decided to stop at Shields for a famous date shake. Despite being 120, she decided to do the Walk, where she was astonished to see her father's statues. The Block family was nothing short of surprised to find out that their statues had ended up in Indio, California. Pastor Block was able to finally rest and be at peace knowing that his statues were in a good place. Pastor Block's vision for the Garden was to use nature to convey a religious message. He said that "the park will fill a need that people have today for God." The vision for the Walk at Shields is no different. All of the glory to God our Father, who had a plan and a purpose for these statues, and may He continue to bless all those who encounter this story and have the privilege of viewing the statues.
